

THE annual Horse Show in New York closed last night with much eclat, after one of the most brilliant exhibitions on record. Each year some bias Gothamite predicts that with another season or two society will see the passing of this long established social institution, yet as each year rolls around society again puts on its gala dress, repairs to Madison Square Garden to be reviewed by the populace which looks on in undisguised admiration at the wealth of costumes displayed.

His majesty, The Horse, again vied with Queen Fashion, and from the first note of the bugle on Monday calling the performers into the ring, until the last prize ribbon fluttered gaily from the bridle of the winning contestant, it was nip and tuck between "Beauty and the Beast."

Washington was positively dull throughout the week, and but for a few small dinners nothing of consequence figured on the social calendar. Scores of society folk from the Capital went over to the Show. Conspicuous among these was the daughter of the President, who visited her friend, Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. Miss Roosevelt's presence at the Show on Friday, attired in a stunning costume of brown velvet, set off with sable furs, was the signal for added interest in the occupants of boxes. Miss Isabel May, in white chiffon, was another attractive visitor the same afternoon.

Now that Mrs. Roosevelt has returned to Washington with the evident intention of remaining at the Capital until the formal opening of the social season on December 17, hostesses are beginning to plan the winter social campaign. The season promises to be even more gay than that of last year, and the list of debutantes not only increases but widens the scope of social possibilities in the way of entertainments.

The assembling of Congress started the social ball rolling, and many informal affairs are even now scheduled for the intervening weeks to December 17. After that society will have no complaint to its credit that Washington is "slow."

The first large dance has been fixed for December 21, and will be the Sixty Couple Cotillon, which, by the way, will continue to figure in the season's festivities. Cards to these dances are particularly desirable in that the attendance is not only limited, as the name suggests, but the affairs are distinctly Washingtonian. The dances this year will be under the direction of Mrs. John Poor, Mrs. Charles H. Campbell, Miss Julie Kellogg, and Miss Myer. January 4 has been set for the first Bachelor Cotillon, which, to the satisfaction of many, are to be given this season in the attractive ballrooms of the New Willard.

Debutante teas and balls, dinners, dances, weddings, and a hundred other things that do duty as diversion for the smart set have been planned for early and late, and when the curtain rolls up majestically on the new season of 1903-04, society will be plunged into a whirlpool of gaiety like only to that which the young, the enthusiastic and the wealthy can induce.

Cabinet Notes.

Secretary and Mrs. Hay will go to New York for Thanksgiving, where they are to be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Payne Whitney. Mr. and Mrs. James Wadsworth, Jr., will also go over for the holidays.

Miss Edith Shaw, daughter of the Secretary of the Interior, will have the distinction of being the only debutante in the Cabinet circle this season. Miss Shaw will be presented to society early in December, and her entry promises to add much to the already interesting program of the early winter.

In Diplomatic Circles.

Baron von Sternburg, German ambassador to the United States, will sail for America on December 1. The ambassador had contemplated an earlier start, but has been ordered to Berlin for a conference with the Emperor.

Until the ambassador arrives in Washington there will be no formal entertainments at the German embassy. The Baroness von Sternburg and her sister, Miss Langhans, arrived at the embassy some weeks ago, but have been resting since coming home.

The Mexican ambassador and Mme. de Aspiroz are in New York, where they went to meet Mme. Varleux upon her return from Europe. The ambassador and his wife have been much entertained since their arrival in New York.

Much interest among the younger set has been excited by Countess Cassini's Russian horse. The daughter of the Russian ambassador has long been acknowledged as one of the leaders of the young social colony in Washington, and her interest with the daughter of the President has given the social devotees something interesting to talk about. It has not been so long ago since the young Countess was an enthusiast on the subject of automobile. It now seems that she is true to her old love, the horse, and that instead of the automobile, she is to be seen on the streets driving her new Russian steed to a dashing French cart unlike anything in the way of rig of which the Capital City can boast.

The announcement that the new British ambassador from London, Sir Mortimer Durand, has left London on the way to his new post at Washington, will be received with much rejoicing by members of the social colony here. Sir Mortimer has a young daughter who is expected to take her place in the younger set, and the British embassy will again be the scene of a series of entertainments for young people. The late ambassador, Sir Michael Herbert, and Lady Herbert entertained extensively, but there was no young girl in the family, and consequently the embassy was not the rendezvous for young folks which it promises to be this season with Miss Durand assuming the duties of hostess.

William R. Hallows, the newly appointed United States consul general in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and who spent some time in Washington recently, was taken seriously ill on the steamer while sailing from Boston to Halifax. Mr. Hallows's condition was so alarming that, upon his arrival at Halifax, he was immediately removed to a hospital. Mr. Pelzer, Third Assistant Secretary of State, received word yesterday that Mr. Hallows is now out of danger.

Captain de Chair, naval attaché of the British embassy, who has been confined to his apartments in the Highlands by an attack of tonsillitis, is rapidly convalescing.

The ambassador from Austria-Hungary and Madame Hengelmüller, with their little daughter, reached Washington late Friday afternoon. Madame Hen-gelmüller has returned much improved in health. Among other treasures brought from abroad is a bird of a rare species which Madame Hengelmüller will add to her already large and valuable collection of feathered pets.

The Countess Marguerite Cassini will give, as her contribution to the week's gaieties, a tea on Tuesday afternoon. The young Countess will, as usual, give a series of dinners and several musicales during the season.

Dinners.

Col. and Mrs. Clarence Edwards gave a dinner last night in honor of Mrs. Eliza Bates, whose marriage tomorrow to Frederick Rich Swift will be among the conspicuous nuptial events of the season. Invited to meet Miss Bates were Miss Root, daughter of the Secretary of War; Miss Henrietta Vixie, of New Haven; Mrs. Dunn McKee, sister of the bride-elect, who is to act as matron of honor; Captain Giddens, U. S. A.; Lieutenant John Gibbons, U. S. N.; Dr. Nichols, Mr. Horstmann, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Foster entertained at dinner on Friday evening in honor of their guest, Andrew P. West, dean of Princeton University. Among their guests were Mr. Needham, Mr. Gilman, and Monsignor O'Connell. After dinner Mr. West addressed the annual meeting of the Washington Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, of which Mr. Foster is president.

Weddings—Engagements.

Swift-Bates.

The festivities of the week will begin with the wedding of Miss Eliza Morgan Bates and Frederick Rich Swift, of New York, which will take place tomorrow afternoon in the music room of the Bates home. Mr. Swift and his brother, Rodman Swift, and the groomsmen will arrive in Washington today. They will all meet in Philadelphia for breakfast and will proceed from there in the private car of Clark Thompson, son of the late Frank Thompson, president of the Pennsylvania road.

Mrs. Dunn McKee, a bride of less than a year, will be the matron of honor. Rodman Swift will act as best man, and George Marvin, G. W. Farley, Malcolm Donald, J. F. Perkins, J. F. Curtis, Arthur Adams, Peter Higginson, all of whom are of Boston; Walter Cutting, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Bolling, of New York, will serve as groomsmen. Bishop Satterlee will perform the ceremony.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Swift will go immediately to New York where they have taken apartments at the corner of Park Avenue and Fifty-third street.

Dyer-Grimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Vardon Grimes have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Edith, to Edward Harvey Dyer, of Norfolk, Va., on Tuesday, November 24, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Admission to the church will be by card.

Tuckerman-McCauley.

The most brilliant event of the week will be the marriage of Miss Lilia McCauley and Walcott Tuckerman, which will take place on Wednesday, at noon, at St. John's Church. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be present. Miss Roosevelt, Miss Anita Poor, Miss Harriet Wadsworth, Miss Sargent, Miss Mary Carlisle, and Miss Carolyn Postlethwaite, all of this city; Miss Mabel Taylor, of Philadelphia, and Miss Grace Sedgewick, of New York, will serve as bridesmaids. Miss Annie McCauley will be maid of honor, and Lucius Tuckerman will act as best man. The groomsmen will include Walter Tuckerman, the Messrs. Penno, Mr. Walcott, and Charles Butler, of Bos-

MISS CANNON,

From Her Latest Photograph.

Miss Cannon possesses many of the qualities that have endeared her father, the present Speaker of the House of Representatives, to rich and poor, high and low alike. Since the death of her mother, which occurred when Miss Cannon was very young, she has been her father's closest companion, and entertaining his friends, both in their hospitable home in Danville, Ill., and in Washington, has been her greatest pleasure.

Their new home, which has recently been opened in this city, has already become, in a quiet way, a most delightful social center. Each Wednesday afternoon, Miss Cannon is at home, informally, and an evening seldom passes when the Speaker does not entertain some friend or friends at dinner. Last night the doors of Mr. Cannon's home were thrown open to the Illinois delegation, and a number of their friends, whom the Speaker entertained at dinner. This was the first formal affair that has taken place in the Cannon home this season.

Miss Cannon, who is brilliant and witty in conversation, and exceedingly tactful and charming in manner, confessedly has no fads. She is fond of music, and is an excellent musician, and though she enjoys walking, she does not indulge in any of the popular out-of-door sports.

Mrs. Le Seure, Mr. Cannon's younger daughter, is at present occupying the Cannon house in Danville, which is never closed, from one year's end to the other. After the holidays, Mrs. Le Seure, with her two young daughters, will join her father and sister in Washington, where she will remain throughout the season.

Chaucey Hackett, and William McLam, of New York, and Reginald Hildekoper, of this city.

The Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's Church, will celebrate the marriage.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast will be served to the family and bridal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCauley. Mr. Tuckerman will take his bride to Mexico, where they will spend the winter.

Fabricotti-Scovel.

Another wedding of interest on Wednesday will be that of Miss Camella Fabricotti and Count Ricardo Scovel. The ceremony will take place in St. James Church, Florence, Italy. A reception will follow at the Villa Terrazza, Viale Machiavelli, the home of the Scovels, who have lived in Florence for many years. The bride's mother is a cousin of the late President, and her son's wife will be remembered as Miss Vivian Sartoris, granddaughter of General Grant. Miss Scovel, who was born in Paris, has lived the greater part of her life abroad.

Russell-Buchanan.

Miss Susie Austin Buchanan, and Edward Gaston Russell, of this city, will be married on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McS. Buchanan, 17 West Tabb Street, Petersburg, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell will be at home after January 2, at 1107 P Street northwest, this city.

Tanner-Anderson.

An engagement recently announced is that of Miss Eleanor Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abram A. Anderson, of New York, and John Tanner, formerly of Lexington, Ky., but now of New York city.

Miss Anderson's father is the well-known portrait painter. Last March, Mrs. Anderson gave to Barnard College three and a half acres of land to the Best of Everything at Cornwell's

Delicacies For Thanksgiving

- New Nuts of All Kinds
- Sweet, Luscious Oranges
- Malaga Grapes
- Raisins, Dates, Figs, Etc.
- Mincemeats
- Plum Puddings

Finest Choice Wines, Table Waters, and Cigars at New York Prices.

G. G. Cornwell & Son,
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
1412-1418 Pa. Ave.

Will Be at Home.

Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, who has apartments at The Highlands, has announced

In Honor of Thanksgiving

Many families make it an annual custom on that day of feasting to add to the service of the table some article of SILVER corresponding in value with the prosperity of the year which it commemorates. "A record writ in silver, of the mercies of the year."

Harris and Shafer Company

Jewelers and Silversmiths,
1113 Pennsylvania Avenue.

her days at home to be Tuesdays in December, January, and February.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford E. Young will be at home Tuesdays after December 1, at 1517 Howard Avenue.

Mrs. James Harvey Clarke and Miss Minnie Hardwick Redman will be at home informally on Wednesday at 1541 T Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lawrence Springer will be at home on Tuesdays at 720 A Street northeast.

Mrs. Charles W. Searan will receive on Tuesday, November 24, and the remaining Tuesdays of the season, at her home, 332 E Street northeast.

Mrs. Edwin S. La Petra will be at home Friday, November 27.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Davis and Mrs. G. Facius, who have taken possession of their new home, 321 North Capitol Street, are at home to their friends.

Chit-Chat.

Mrs. Henry May, of Washington, was one of the interested and interesting visitors to the Horse Show in New York last week. Mrs. May visited the show Friday, wearing a handsome gown of black satin and lace.

Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is spending a few days in New York. Mrs. Fairbanks went to Jersey City to attend the unveiling of the Paulus Hook monument today, and while there is the guest of Mrs. A. L. Beddie, vice president of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Gen. and Mrs. George B. Williams are again established in their home in Bancroft Place, after a prolonged absence from Washington.

Medical Inspector S. H. Dickson, U. S. N., who has been absent on three months' sick leave, has returned to Washington and is at the Metropolitan Club.

J. Van Ness Huyck, who has been confined to his apartments for the past month by illness, is slowly improving.

Theodore Roosevelt Pell, who will be married in Philadelphia next Wednesday to Miss Florence J. Cramp, gave his bachelor dinner in New York last night at the St. Nicholas Club. The guests included Mr. Pell's brother, S. Osgood Pell, who is to be best man at the wedding; Hamilton Fish Benjamin, J. Van Schaick Odell, Theodore Lawrence Bogart, John A. McVicker, Henry King Smith, James Duane Pell, Howard Pell-Haggerty, and Francis L. Cramp.

Gen. Henry C. Corbin, commanding the military Department of the East, will receive the Twelfth New York Regiment in its arms on the evening of November 23.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Silas Casey, with their daughter, Miss Casey, have taken apartments at the Everett for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tyler Chamberlain have returned from a trip abroad and are at 1902 Cincinnati Street.

The well-known author, Rev. James C. Fernald, has moved to this city from New Jersey. He was a member of the staff that prepared the Standard Dictionary. Mr. Fernald will preach in the Second Baptist Church this morning.

Medical Director J. M. Flint, U. S. N., retired, has leased an apartment for the winter at Stoneleigh Court.

George Cole, the celebrated miniature painter, is in Washington as the guest

BUY IT NOW!

DON'T allow your children to grow up without a musical education when you can buy a high-grade piano for so little and on such easy terms from the F. G. Smith Piano Co. Make up your mind to have that piano in the house before Christmas, and we will help you all we can—quote you the lowest factory prices and give you the easiest terms ever offered in Washington. Here's a sample value to show how advantageous you'll find it to deal with us:

$350 UPRIGHT PIANO, $175.

A brand new Upright Piano, practically for it has been used only a few weeks; superb tone and action; rich mahogany case; all latest improvements; a $350 instrument for $175; including stool, scarf, one year's tuning, and free delivery.

Here's Another Special: $400 Upright Piano, $225, on $6 Monthly Payments. In thorough condition, musically and otherwise.

Square Pianos at $25 up. Organs at $10 up. 100 Pianos for rent, $2 to $10 monthly.

F. G. Smith PIANO CO.,
Bradbury Building, 1225 Pa. Ave.

of his sister, Mrs. Waring, at the Albemarle. Mr. Cole spent the past year with his parents, ex-Senator and Mrs. Cole, in Los Angeles, and purposes sailing for Europe in a short time.

Senator and Miss Kean will be among the early entertainers of the winter. They have arranged a dinner dance for young people for December 31, when their young nieces, the Roosevelt girls, will be the guests of honor.

Brig. Gen. Charles Bird and Mrs. Bird have removed from their former residence, 1416 Twentieth Street, and are occupying apartments at the Gordon for the winter.

Ensign John C. Fremont, Jr., is in Washington on waiting orders and is stopping at 2119 R Street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wadsworth, Jr., have taken an apartment at Stoneleigh Court, where they are to live.

Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris's determination to spend the winter in St. Louis is a source of much regret to a legion of her Washington friends. Mrs. Sartoris is accompanied to St. Louis by her daughter, Miss Rosemary, and her son, Algon Sartoris. The fact that Mrs. Sartoris is in mourning for her mother will preclude the possibility of her participation in any formal social affairs at her old home. However, Miss Rosemary and her brother will undoubtedly find the winter a gay one, for they are sure to become popular in the younger set.

Dr. Bruce McV. Mackall, who received his degree from Georgetown University last June, is now in the Marine Hospital Service. Dr. Mackall is stationed at Portland, Me.

Mrs. Sheridan, the widow of Gen. Philip Sheridan, is in St. Louis as the guest of Mrs. Hitchcock, wife of the Secretary of the Interior. At the conclusion of her visit there Mrs. Sheridan will go to Arizona to see her son, Lieut. Philip H. Sheridan, Fifth Cavalry, who is stationed at Fort Huachuca.

Officers at Fort Myer will give a reception on December 1 in honor of Col. W. S. Edgerly, commanding officer of the post, and Mrs. Edgerly.

Senator Dietrich, of Nebraska, has leased an apartment at Stoneleigh Court for the season. Miss Dietrich, the Senator's youngest daughter, will spend the winter in Washington with her father.

Mrs. Richardson Clover, wife of Commander Richardson Clover, gave a charming tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Frances Burton Harrison.

The Rev. Father Huntington, superior general of the Order of the Holy Cross, Westminister, Md., is the guest of the Rev. Dr. Devries, of St. Mark's Church.

Miss Mary Morris, of Melbourne, Australia, is visiting friends in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. David Baldwin, of 10 East Madison Street, Baltimore, are spending several days in the city.

Mrs. Mary Helen Howe, of New York, accompanied by her father, Dr. Franklin T. Howe, of Washington, and her youngest sister, Miss Marie Angela Howe, have sailed for Nice on the steamer Vaterland.

Gen. and Mrs. Wesley Merritt are expected in Washington "the early part of this week."

Miss Mabel Merriam arrived in Washington yesterday for a visit of a week.

Mrs. Julian Catlin and Miss Catlin, of this city, who are still at their summer home in Morristown, N. J., will sail for Europe this week.

Among the dances arranged for the Yuletide season will be one by the

SMOOT, COFFER & McALLEY,
1216 F St. Phone 725.

NEW FURS.

In assembling this stock of Furs we've picked only the most fashionable pieces in the most desirable furs. There are the new flat coats, long round scarfs, and latest stole effects in mink, squirrel, fox, sable, lynx, chinchilla, etc. You are certain to find a piece here to meet your ideas at a price within reason.

Regular $1 Gloves, 50c.

A bargain that's due to an overstock of Gloves. Big line of Ladies' Fine Kid Gloves, in black and desirable shades. Imported to sell for $1. All sizes. Choice Monday at half price.

Showing a new line of Fine Ostrich Feather, Coque and Liberty Silk Bos and Stoles in the latest effects.

Neckwear, 25c to $5.

A showing that comprises every beautiful and attractive novelty in Ladies' Neckwear. Collars and Buff Sets, in the beautiful hand-embroidered Persian effects—fashion's latest fad—priced at 75c and 85c.

New Veilings

In the latest plain and dotted mesh; also made veils, scarfs, and handkerchiefs. Veilings, 25c to $1 yard. Made Veils, 50c to $2.75.

An elegant line of Silk Hosiery in plain, lace and handsomely embroidered effects—$1 to $5 pair.

Smoot, Coffey & McAlley,
1216 F Street.

Princeton Glee Club to follow their concert, on Wednesday, December 23, at the New Willard. The young women who will assist at this affair include Miss Kellogg, Miss Poor, Miss Field, Miss Webb, and Miss Annie McCauley.

Mrs. Francis E. Leupp has sent out cards for Friday, November 27, from 4 to 7 o'clock, when she will introduce her younger daughters, Miss Constance and Miss Kathleen to society.

Mrs. Kingscote, the English authoress, and her daughter, Miss Iris Kingscote, are the guests of A. G. Heaton, at his home, 1518 Seventeenth Street.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Silas Casey and Miss Casey have taken an apartment at the Everett for the winter.

Miss Catherine Callom Ridgely, daughter of William Barrett Ridgely, Comptroller of the Currency, who was recently presented to Chicago society by her aunt, Mrs. William A. Vincent, of 47 Astor Street, will not return to Washington until after the holidays. On January 9 Mrs. Shelby Cullom, widow of Senator Cullom, will present her granddaughter to the Washington friends of the family.

Mrs. Fluhler, wife of Dr. William F. Fluhler, of New York, is the guest of Mrs. H. D. Walbridge, 1219 Grant Street. Dr. Fluhler joins Mrs. Fluhler here today.

Mrs. Charles M. Pepper and her daughter, Miss Norita, who have been traveling since early last summer with Mr. Pepper in South America, have returned to Washington and are established at 1743 U Street northwest.

The women on the board of managers of the Newsboys' Home will give a tea on the afternoon of November 23 at the home, Third and C Streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Eddy Kennedy, of San Francisco, are the guests of Mr. Kennedy's sister at 1414 Hopkins Street. Mr. Kennedy, formerly of this city, has for several years past made his home in California. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will remain here until the first of the year, when they will go to New York and Boston for a short time before returning to their Western home.

Mrs. Fairfield Carpenter, who is well known in Washington, but who has spent little time here in the past few years, has arrived here from her home in Cazenovia, N. Y. She is accompanied by her young son, and has taken apartments at the Arlington.

MEXICAN VICE CONSUL HERE.

A. Leon Graded, Mexican vice consul to New York city, accompanied by his family, arrived in the city Friday on official and personal business. He reports trade conditions in his country as progressing satisfactorily.

FOURTH TIME MOTHER OF TWINS.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 21.—Mrs. John Bombalack, of Johnson City, yesterday became the mother of twins, the fourth pair in succession. She is thirty-five years of age, and has been married twelve years. She has fifteen children, three of whom are girls.

Ten-one F—Cor. 10th.
Entire building—phone "one-fifty."

Much of the footwear selling done here for the past two weeks has been to those who were going to New York to attend that great social event—the horse show—and the many other events taking place in that city in such rapid succession. Time was—before the coming of this store—when the elite of Washington bought their entire footwear in New York because of the lack of variety shown by the shoe stores of this city.

What a splendid niche, then, has this shoe establishment filled, for now, it is a well-known fact that no greater variety or "smarter" styles are shown in the largest cities.

This is true of women's evening and reception slippers—of carriage and boudoir footwear—of women's and men's street shoes and sporting footwear. It is true of children's footwear, too; the whole third floor is devoted to the selling of juvenile shoes and slippers, and it is the greatest stock to be seen in the capital city.

Particular attention is called to the very complete assortment of men's and women's riding boots, embracing all the novelties of English and American production—the accepted correct styles from the foremost makers.

B. Rich's Sons,
Ten-one F—Cor. 10th St.